

jan mcinnis

#PoliceInterview #PoliceInterrogation #Confession

10 Police Interrogation Techniques That You Need To Know About: How Do Police Extract Confessions?

385,660 views

 6.3K

 354

 SHARE

 SAVE

NOTE: Several viewers / commenters expressed concerns that the content of this video is stolen from another vid "Why Cops Beat You In The Interrogation Room". Just to clarify, this video of mine was created and uploaded in March 2017, more than a year earlier than the other video in question.

SHOW MORE

Up next

AUTOPLAY ☐

Steve Silverman - What To Do When Stopped By A Cop
LibertyPen
68K views

How to handle the police by using their own tricks against them 5th amendment
Police State - SNN
326K views

Top 5 simple moves to end a street fight in SECONDS
THE ROGUE WARRIORS - Where Warriors are FORGED
2.5M views

jan mcinnis

HLN

1.5M views

A SEAL Team SIX Member Reveals How To Escape A Kidnapping

BuzzFeed Multiplayer

9.4M views

Narcissist, Psychopath, or Sociopath: How to Spot the Differences

MedCircle ✓

3.6M views

Crazy Vegas Judge Loses it when he won't Worship Her!

Gavin Seim ✓

2.1M views

PRESSURE POINT KNOCKOUTS 2

World of Martial Arts Television

Recommended for you

Car dealership ripoff: Hidden-camera investigation

CBC News ✓

5.2M views

10 Insane Tactics Used By The Secret Service

Top Trending ✓

7.4M views

jan mcinnis

163K views

7:26

Moorish Man Schools Judge In Court With The Knowledge Of His Rights! (Rewind Clip)

NewExplainNews

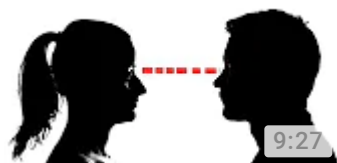

764K views

Angry lawyer goes off the deep end

vebene22

1.2M views

8:00

30 Psychology Tricks That Work On EVERYONE!

Tempt ✓

3.2M views

9:27

Busted! How to Handle the Police Until You Get a Lawyer - by Mary Griego

ignitenm

813K views

5:29

3 Common Mistakes In A Street Fight - Bruce Lee's Jeet Kune Do

Dan Lok ✓

Recommended for you

13:16

Public defender tries to stop the public from speaking

Miami Beach Crime Prevention

2M views

16:09

Anti-surveillance techniques

jan mcinnis

Former CIA Officer Will Teach You How to Spot a Lie | Digiday
Digiday
5M views

Don't Talk to the Police
Regent University School of Law
1.9M views

SHOW MORE

1,608 Comments  SORT BY

Add a public comment...

 snappytoetapper6 6 months ago

I have many friends. Many are cops. Many are lawyers...What do they all agree on? Just one thing. Never, ever, never ever talk to the police without a lawyer. Cops will never talk to fellow cops without a attorney present.....

 397  REPLY

Hide replies ^

 Lilly Belle 3 months ago

But, if you do that then, they make up something to throw you in jail for, for the night. They also think you are guilty because you want a lawyer and won't cooperate. But, if you cooperate then, they rule you out as a suspect, let you go and stop bothering you.

 4  REPLY

 Scott Bromberg 3 months ago

jan mcinnis

Scott Bromberg 2 months ago

cops will always cover for striking teachers , reason ... both belong to the same corrupt public sector unions ! trump will have to step in and disband the teacher's union , strip down all public sector unions and get rid of the dept of education ! other groups like the OEA , which each state has their own version ... should be be under trump's watch list for criminal activities like all other public sector organizations !

8

REPLY

Endorphin Rider 2 months ago

Lilly -- NEVER talk to the police. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=d-7o9xYp7eE&t=1455s>

19

REPLY

Smitty Werben Jaeger man Jensen 2 months ago

Lilly Belle Wrong in the first sentence.

13

REPLY

Smitty Werben Jaeger man Jensen 2 months ago

Scott Bromberg LOL, that's about the funniest and dumbest thing I've read all day. Cheers.

9

REPLY

Lilly Belle 2 months ago

What do you mean? They always say they can come up with something to put you in jail for.

1

REPLY

Timothy Appleseed 2 months ago (edited)

Then why do they need your confession?

If they can just make something up then why do they need to talk to you at all?

15

REPLY

NeverTalkToCops1 2 months ago

+Lilly Belle "...think you are guilty...won't cooperate." "THINKING is NOT evidence. Exercising your right to silence can NEVER be converted into a crime.

jan mcinnis

+Lilly Belle "They always say they can come up with something to you in jail for." THEN LET THEM, your job is to not incriminate yourself. Keep your mouth shut, demand a lawyer, answer no questions. IF they have EVIDENCE sufficient to hold you in jail, they will, if not they will release you or if they are corrupt, fabricate evidence against you.

👍 27 🗨️ REPLY

Lilly Belle 2 months ago

Because, locking you up in jail over night is not the same as getting a conviction. You can be taken to jail without a conviction. You just can't go to prison without a trial and being found guilty.

👍 5 🗨️ REPLY

Lilly Belle 2 months ago

Well, see that's what I'm saying and what scares me. If you don't cooperate, they will find something to charge you with to hold you. Or, yes maybe fabricate evidence. On the other hand, a lot of times if you just talk to them, they will leave you alone. Not talking to them makes them come after you more.

👍 2 🗨️ REPLY

Tom Giovanni 2 months ago

Bullshit! The Police can hold you for up to 48 hours without pressing charges. It doesn't mean diddly if they "think you are guilty". Their job is to collect evidence to use to prosecute you. If you shut up and get a lawyer there is nothing they can do.

👍 9 🗨️ REPLY

Lilly Belle 2 months ago

That's my point though, Tom. You still get held. You still go to jail and get scared. You still get harassed by them. Then, they can just come up with something to charge you with to bring you to jail for longer if they want to. Then, they focus on you because you are acting suspicious. They'll call you in for questioning, they may try to get a search warrant. Whatever they can do to harass you. But, if you just talk to them and cooperate they will leave you alone.

👍 🗨️ REPLY

statinskill 2 months ago

Scott Bromberg You are absolutely right that we have to clean up the education system from kindergarten to highschool to colleges and universities. Let's out an end to "white privilege", "intersectional feminism", "diversity" and "affirmative action", by kicking these people out of our schools and keeping their sweaty pedophile hands as far away from our children as possible.

jan mcinnis

smitty , don't know how old you are ... but i have seen this corruption develop over the decades and it must be dealt with in a severe fashion !

👍 2 🗨️ REPLY

TombstoneHeart 2 months ago

A night in jail is a good result when compared to months or years in prison for a wrongful conviction. Never co-operate with the police.

👍 17 🗨️ REPLY

Rob Ishere 2 months ago

@Scott Bromberg:

Good Troll, or you're stupid. I presume you're too smart to be stupid. Ivanka, is that you?

👍 1 🗨️ REPLY

Scott Bromberg 2 months ago

ishere , move out of your parent's basement and get a job ! dumb mother fucker !

👍 2 🗨️ REPLY

rechitsapivo 2 months ago

Apparently you've never heard of people spending months in jail without trial, through use of legal loopholes. But you are damn right, I wouldn't talk to them without a lawyer at all. For a suspect, a night in jail is way better than potentially years in prison.

👍 9 🗨️ REPLY

Show more replies

Brian Warner 7 months ago

i almost fell for the rapport building trick. This cop was so cool and acted so supportive of what i was accused of that he had me thinking all i had to do was make a recorded confession and he would make sure the judge went super easy on me because i cooperated and was remorseful. The microphone was literally up to my mouth and he was about to hit record on a shitty little tape recorder when i snapped out of it and told him I should talk to a lawyer before i did something like this.....as we walked out of the room and looked at me and said "well there is a first time for everything" and after i asked for a bit of clarification he more or less admitted he was the number one guy for coaxing confessions, letting me know that was all a big act. I never heard from them again....

jan mcinnis

Hide replies ^

Great Dragon 7 months ago

your guilty :) i can tell from that ugly face of yours

19

REPLY

YABOI Z 7 months ago

Great Dragon

He's got a face that makes me want to punch him.

4

REPLY

wyldechylde00 {kaneen} 7 months ago

Haha thats marilyn manson's (aka brian warner's) high school photo. Unless you guys already knew that...its hard to tell if there is sarcasm implied or not without a voice behind the words 😏

21

REPLY

Snow White 6 months ago

Great Dragon you're guilty. I can tell by your poor spelling 😏

15

REPLY

Brian Warner 6 months ago

they no nothing wild child...

3

REPLY

wyldechylde00 {kaneen} 6 months ago

Brian Warner there ya go!! They do not...oh great one, teee heee 😏 😏

1

REPLY

Casey Sugrue 4 months ago

Hi Manson

3

REPLY

red sun Last 3 months ago

jan mcinnis

Hiram Biffidum 3 months ago

It's difficult to believe, because the average plainclothes cop is usually in a fit of rage. They'll issue you bullshit fines, make up stories, administratively ride your ass. the list is endless. They really are people to be avoided :(

6

REPLY

bob miller 3 months ago

youre an idiot.

1

REPLY

John R 2 months ago

Good story. But newsflash: COPS DON'T NEED TAPE RECORDERS. "Interview" rooms are bugged. The tape recorder is just a prop.

7

REPLY

James McDonald 2 months ago

The GOOD ones don't do that. Good interrogators almost NEVER need to do temper tantrums. If you encounter one who does exhibit temper, you have a LOT of tricks to incite him to go NUTS. His being NUTS defeats his job if you happen to be his job.

5

REPLY

explosivefreak666 2 months ago

Brian Warner : Way to go son.! Now tell as MANY P°EOPLE YOU KNOW That story.!... We ALL need to know their dirty scams.!! I thought my kid when he was a little boy, First time with the cops he was 16 (they wanted him to rat out his mates.!) The cop later told me he acted like he had icewater in his veins... I was so proud, and of course he gave 'em not a goddam thing.!

4

REPLY

Frederika Flokiren 2 months ago

That little recorder is just a prop. They were recording the whole thing anyway.

4

REPLY

David Thomas 2 months ago

jan mcinnis

Md Nealy 2 months ago

The Police can say something like its ok to discipline your child and if you agree they may claim you confessed to physical abuse. Its legal and dirty handed but it is why Lawyers always advise you to not talk to the Police without an atty present. Most cops are honest and want the bad guy but they have too much leeway in what is a confession.

 2 REPLYexplosivefreak666 2 months ago

David Thomas : Colonel Klink.?

REPLYDavid Thomas 2 months ago

explosivefreak666 nope. That is Sergeant Schultz. Colonel Klink was the one that said, "No one escapes Stalag 13."

 1 REPLYDavid Thomas 2 months ago

explosivefreak666 the bad thing about my little antics like that is I am 28 years old and should not know about those things old shows. However, I do and I LOVE them.

 3 REPLYRoger Fournier 2 months ago

GOOD POINT! LAW ENFORCEMENT & THE CRIMINAL JUSTICE ARE TWO DIFFERENT ENTITIES, ONE IS ENFORCING THE FIELD-
---THE CRIMINAL JUSTICE JUSTIFIES WEATHER YOUR----GUILTY OR NOT GUILTY!

 2 REPLYexplosivefreak666 2 months ago

David Thomas : Well David, nowadays I see more & more young people go for the old stuff, or "classic's" as they're sometimes called. I don't know why, as it's clearly not nostalgia... Maybe the modern shows are crap.? According to my son they are.! He's 24, but even Hé don't like the majority of milenials, go figure.! And old is not Always bad... Thanx to YT I still look up the ancient shows like M.A.S.H, Taxi, Hill street blues and others that sometimes just spring to mind.! Anyways, enjoy 'em... That was their
Read more

REPLY

jan mcinnis

today, including their interactions with cops. I don't know how old you are but I would assume that you were born in the early seventies at least. The music and entertainment at that time was wholesome and clean. Granted, I don't mind some raunchy

Read more

REPLY

David Thomas 2 months ago

Md Nealy I am not allowed to "discipline" my nieces. Since they are not my own children, I would have to agree. However, if they get disrespectful and stuff, I have my own way of "disciplining" them. They lose access to their toys, their electronics, and they cannot go outside until I deem that they have been sufficiently punished. No physical "abuse" involved. And if what I did already is not enough, they have to either sit down on the couch and not get back up until I say so or they stand with their nose in the

Read more

1

REPLY

explosivefreak666 2 months ago

David Thomas : Close, I was born in '64. And you're def right about the public... They ARE getting brainwashed by media : The older ones by the news & papers, the young ones by movies, music, and the latest "hip" things.! They ALL claim to be an "individual", without realising they're just cattle, herd animals... SHEEPLE.! There's a LOT that's changed over the years, not All for the best. That "everything goes" mentality has spon outtof controll... There is a thing as TOO MUCH, where the ballance is

Read more

1

REPLY

David Thomas 2 months ago

explosivefreak666 I agree. This part of what I am saying may seem contradictory to what I said previously but this is how I genuinely feel and I would like to think that most people my age or within a year or two either way feel the same way. Older people are gradually getting out of touch with society. Granted that not all older people are like that and that comment was meant for people in their late seventies and beyond. Yes, we need to take care of them, but that still doesn't give them the right or

Read more

REPLY

explosivefreak666 2 months ago

David Thomas : HaHaHaàà.!!!. I agree, many old fuck's ARE assholes.! I've met a shitload of them, but I'm from a rural part in my country and during the age of the old ones (the age 70+) there was no real outside contact with the world... Deprivation of knowledge, combined with fear of the new, makes assholes.!!!. A lack of basic intelligence is the last nail to seal their

jan mcinnis

David Thomas 2 months ago

explosivefreak666 Finally, someone that actually agrees with me. Although, I would not go as far as what you said. I have massive respect for older people, even when they do act like assholes. However, don't push me beyond my limits. If you do, I won't guarantee that I will remain respectful. And that is simply because you were disrespectful of me. They always say that respect is a two way street. Well, they seem to forget that when they start acting like bigshots.

REPLY

David Thomas 2 months ago

explosivefreak666 and I have been raised and still live in a rural area. Jobs are leaving here in droves and the younger generation along with them

REPLY

explosivefreak666 2 months ago

David Thomas : Let me give you an example : Suppose you know a guy of your own age, a real douchebag.! Now, Hé has the mpisfortune to live till he's 95.!... Will you Thén respect him.?? Just for NOT Dying.?? Don't seem fair to me.! Like I said, respect needs to be earned, and just getting old in NOT an achievement that deserves respect.! Think about it for a while, and find the flaws in my statement.About people disrespecting you... I totally agree.! When someone takes libertys well beyond what we all explosivefreak666 all I have is a GED and 7/8 of a degree in Automotive Technology. If you wanna talk more, add me on Facebook.

Read more

REPLY

David Thomas 2 months ago

REPLY

Jack Jameson 2 months ago

Brian Warner this never happened

REPLY

explosivefreak666 2 months ago

Jack Jameson : And you know that BECAUSE.??...

jan mcinnis

David Thomas : Sorry, I'm not on Facebook. (Paranoia.!) And I'm from Belgium so the GED-thing and the 7/8 degree I also don't get... But maybe we'll see eachother somewhere. But best of luck to you... I feel you deserve it.!

REPLY

Jack Jameson 2 months ago

explosivefreak666 I know how to spot liars

REPLY

explosivefreak666 2 months ago

Jack Jameson : Kind of a def certainty, like you say it.!! My life once depended on people, telling the truth... I wasn't Thàt certain, éven then.!

REPLY

Jack Jameson 2 months ago

have a great night bro

REPLY

Mane on a new plane nigga 2 months ago

David Thomas two way street fasho went traffic is heavy one way its heavy the other way and tge street can shut down

REPLY

Mane on a new plane nigga 2 months ago

They once told me if i drank alchohol ever im an alchoholic. I asked if they ever drank before they say yes so i called them drug addicts. They asked for logical elaboration and i simply stated that alchohol is the supreme gateway drug

REPLY

Tom Evans 2 months ago

Brian Warner that's why you should never talk to cops, if you are arrested then say I want to talk to a lawyer. If you are not arrested, just walk away.

REPLY

David Thomas 2 months ago

jan mcinnis

David Thomas 2 months ago

And for the rest of you, I have only one way to avoid having to deal with this. And that is not get into that position.

REPLY

LivelysReport 2 months ago

Reminds me of the movie with Eddie Murphy after the first two lost Axel Foley with the banana in the tail pipe and then up next were these other two officers.. and he called them the second team.. and they said we are not going to fall for the banana in the tail pipe.. LOL So before an interview just ask for the first team because we do not want to see you fall for the banana in the tail pipe.. best bring out your big hitters first.. LOL

Read more

REPLY

LivelysReport 2 months ago

Just remember, the only time you open your mouth is to exercise a right and or to ask are you being detained or are you free to go.. otherwise, your mouth stays shut at all times..

REPLY

james pansini 1 month ago

That's a great story....how did it end.....!! They really take advantage of people's fear.....!! Sometimes you just have to suck it up and do a couple Of days in jail , than to admit to anything.....!!! California, finally made a law giving everyone a "get out of jail" free card, because it isn't fair that some people can't afford bail and others can.....so there is no more bail set..once your booked, they have to let you go.....!!! Until you date to appear in court comes....!!

Read more

REPLY

David Rixon 1 month ago

Brian Warner

Mr manso big fan

REPLY

ctbadcop15 1 month ago

jan mcinnis

james pansini 1 month ago

You still haven't answered my question....how did your case end if you didn't talk to the cops.....but I bet you talked to your traitor attorney...let me guess....he pleaded "not guilty" for you...!! The absolutely worse plea you can make in court....Why wasn't his first move to dismiss the case under a 12 (b)6 motion (failure to state a claim for which REMEDY cannot be given)....ask him...!!!

1

REPLY

dbltrplx 3 weeks ago

Brian Warner

Outfuckingstanding!!!!

That's how you do it.

REPLY

Jon dow 3 weeks ago

The only thing you should say to a cop under any is circumstances is "No Comment".

1

REPLY

Brandon Hill 3 weeks ago

@Great Dragon.Where is your pic??There is an app that would help you."Grinder" So you no longer need Youtube profile pics.I never understood the need to take on someone else's identity.Such creepy level's too.I personally think Mr. Warner most likely got legal assistance when his career started.He is very intelligent.Would prob creep him out knowing someone has his name and old photo abandoning the few rights we actually have.

REPLY

studio7 3 weeks ago

Were you guilty?

REPLY

Joe Mann 3 weeks ago

Dude? Why would you ever make a confession to law enforcement for something you didn't do. I know this happens occasionally. Is it because you're very young, and they've broken you down for hours?I could perhaps understand if that's the case.

jan mcinnis

REPLY

John Zildgulf 2 weeks ago

You just saved yourself a whole world of trouble. I don't care if you are guilty or innocent, it is THEIR job to prove it from the evidence gathered. If there is not enough evidence then you can't be proven guilty....unless you confess it yourself.

Lesson 1: Don't talk to the Police without a Lawyer.

Lesson 2: Do NOT talk to the Police without a Lawyer.

Lesson 3: Absolutely do NOT talk to the Police without a Lawyer.

Show less

REPLY

Tactical Bacon 6 days ago

Great Dragon Even if it was his real face (it's not), maybe you should show your face to the internet. See what happens.

REPLY

Adrian Sandry 10 months ago

Anything you say will be twisted and used against you. The police do NOT want the truth, they want convictions. The police are NOT your friends.

624

REPLY

Hide replies ^

paul sawczyc 9 months ago

If you were a schoolteacher and told this to your pupils - you would go to jail for endangering the welfare of a child.

8

REPLY

14Shelling13 8 months ago

parents should teach that to their children. the police is only useful, if someone wants to harm you.

12

REPLY

paul sawczyc 8 months ago

jan mcinnis

LordlyLlama 8 months ago

Wow I saw 3 replies and hoped to see something smart. I guess I had too much faith in you guys.

7

REPLY

Maxumized 8 months ago

You are so right. They use these psychological tactics to manipulate weak minded people into a trap. Our drivers license or ID cards should have an option that says are you willing to talk to law enforcement with or without legal counsel. Then the officer knows better that the questioning is not admissible in court because you already, under oath, declared your right at the DMV.

6

REPLY

Gregory Everson 8 months ago

paul sawczyc vaccines are good, after the polio breakout and made a shot for it, polio is basically gone

6

REPLY

Richunix Unix 8 months ago exactly, from a retired former detective.

5

REPLY

Spookydws 8 months ago

Most cops want the truth. By the time they are interrogating you they know you did the crime.

6

REPLY

xlar54 8 months ago

well, maybe youre guilty

REPLY

monkeyishi 8 months ago

Your world must be interesting through your eyes

REPLY

jan mcinnis

until you have your attorney present.

👍 9 💬 REPLY

Leslie Williford 7 months ago

paul sawczyc stupid thing to say

👍 💬 REPLY

Lenard Brown 7 months ago

I have been a college professor for 20 years. Throughout my adult life the police racially profile me and pulled me over in countless traffic stops. In some cases the police will change my identity to a known convict in order to arrest me or write a traffic ticket. I teach at a state university, therefore, I am a state employee that has passed a criminal background check. But the police want convicts and quotas met. The truth and public safety is not a concern. A co-worker of mine, who teaches history, use to Read more

👍 13 💬 REPLY

Chet Pomeroy 7 months ago

It is my suspicion that many police departments haven't done adequate psychiatric screening of LEO candidates, particularly for Cluster B personality traits, prior to passing out the badges. If there is lack of accountability in the exercise of lawful authority, corruption will inevitably follow. Lord Acton once said, "Power tends to corrupt and absolute power corrupts absolutely."

👍 5 💬 REPLY

TRUST CHRIST OR GO TO HELL 7 months ago

Gregory Everson FALSE

👍 💬 REPLY

TRUST CHRIST OR GO TO HELL 7 months ago

Leslie Williford STATIST

👍 💬 REPLY

Travis Rabble 7 months ago

disgusting PIGS

jan mcinnis

your woman. Think again Travis.

4

REPLY

Travis Rabble 7 months ago

Jack Mehan - It's 'breaking' not 'braking' you imbecile and nope, maybe your soft pathetic arse needs to cry to the police but I only trust my fists the last thing i'd ever do is call up those disgusting pigs. If someone is breaking in my house they'll find themselves badly beaten and dumped in the street, thanks for your enquiry.

4

REPLY

Jack Mehan 6 months ago

Travis, Oh my you sound like a self proclaimed tough guy. That's nice that you have fists...but what if one of those nasty boys has a gun? And what if there are two or three of them with guns? You won't call the police? I see...well I guess that means that the people who just broke into your house in our little scenario have beaten you to a pulp, raped your woman and took everything that you own. Good move not calling the police. It seems that you won't be sticking around long to spread your hateful ways. What a shame. By the way if you'd actually like to debate me point for point instead of mouthing off like a macho clown I'm ready tough guy! Ha ha ha
Show less

2

REPLY

Show more replies

Stephen Williams 8 months ago

A wise person once told me, "if they had enough evidence to convict you, they wouldn't bother questioning you." Nothing you say to a law enforcement officer will ever help you.

Also, never ever talk to anyone who's not your lawyer about your case. Not your mom, not your friends, not your cellmates. Anyone can be an informant.

Show less

266

REPLY

Hide replies ^

Tyrhol Biosphere 6 months ago

Stephen Williams

jan mcinnis

1 REPLY

zugmeister314 3 months ago

I'm not sure where you are, but here in the US the job of the police is to get a suspect and evidence to pass off to the prosecutor. If they're taking the time to talk to you they already have you (duh) and they're fishing for evidence. While it's possible they're not after you specifically, they'll lie to you either way so it's best to assume you're the one in the crosshairs and act accordingly.

9 REPLY

ChiliContestWinner 2 months ago

If you say something that proves you are innocent to the police it is more likely hearsay and will not be allowed in court. If you say something that more than likely shows you are guilty it is likely also hearsay but it will be allowed in court under multiple hearsay exceptions such as against your own interest exception. Thus, nothing can be gained by you talking to the police.

9 REPLY

Hercule Holmes 2 months ago

I would also add that you should even be careful about what you say to your own lawyer/solicitor. In the UK, the average duty solicitor spends a lot of time at the local police station and is quite buddy-buddy with the police.

Also, your solicitor cannot lie on your behalf, so if you confess something to your solicitor from that point on he or she cannot make a case that contradicts the statement you made. So be careful what you say even to your own defender.

Show less

6 REPLY

Gm Chess 1 month ago

True. If they (Police) ask you any thing that will help convict you or your mom.

1 REPLY

TideFan Yankee 1 month ago

What Stephen Williams is saying is partly true. Generally they are looking for you to fill in gaps in what they know and don't know.

But if they had the whole story and had evidence to back it up, they don't need to talk to you. A confession is just a cherry on top. Generally speaking, if you're in handcuffs, they have enough, so why give them more?

If you're ever confronted by the police (in the U.S.) one simple question will clear many things up for you. "Am I free to leave?" or "Am I under arrest?" If the cop(s) say ANYTHING that indicates you are not free to leave, invoke your right to remain silent, and repeat the question again, and again, and again if necessary. DO NOT yell at them, DO NOT take an aggressive posture, DO NOT insult them, but if you're around other people, ask in a voice loud enough for others to hear. If their questions become accusatory ask for a lawyer/attorney in a voice loud enough for others to hear....that creates witnesses for you. Some cops will answer the "Am I free to leave" question with something like "that depends on what you tell us". You don't have to talk to cops, in some states you don't even have to identify yourself to them unless they articulate that they have some reason to suspect you have committed or are about to commit a crime. If you have a phone, record them asking you questions and your responses. Interactions with the police are different than those with other private citizens. Just about everything the police do is subject to "public disclosure" because they are on the job for a public entity.

jan mcinnis

If they want to take you to the station to "talk" respectfully decline unless of course they arrest you, but again, immediately invoke your right to remain silent and ask for an attorney/lawyer.

A cop can ask for anything....they can knock on your door and ask to search your house, they can ask to look in your trunk etc.... And....you can say "no", unless they have a warrant then they wouldn't be asking. Also if an officer asks to search something and says, "if you don't have this or that (drugs etc) then you have nothing to worry about". The best answer is, "I don't consent to warrant-less searches". There are only a few situations that require you to have some sort of identification, like driving a vehicle. You don't need one to walk down the street.

Where many people end up getting into trouble is they gloat after a cop tells them they are free to leave. Too many people try to get the "last word" in, so they can show the cop that THEY (the individual) "showed them". Yeah, don't do that. Just walk away and be thankful you're in a (semi) free country.

Show less

8

REPLY

A

Antonio Torino 1 month ago

Stephen Williams How about not doing the crime in the first place, huh? Wouldn't that be a better advise? Genius?

REPLY

T

TideFan Yankee 1 month ago

Antonio Torino. Not arguing with you, but you might want to look up how many people the Innocence Project alone has freed. You don't have to do the crime to get locked up, it's been shown over and over. There have been many innocent people who have gone to jail for crimes the authorities later found out they didn't commit. Hundreds were freed on DNA alone when it was first accepted in courts. There have been several people in Texas who were freed when they found out a prosecutor there was crooked. If I remember correctly it was in Dallas or Houston...he would brag that he was so good he could send innocent people to prison.

Look at the Duke Lacrosse case. The prosecutor in that case just wanted a conviction to curry favor in the black community

jan mcinnis

Show less

3

REPLY

Antonio Torino 1 month ago

Two different topics. I agree with you on the fact that we might have crooked personnel working for the Government, but those cases are just part of the "don't do the crime in the first place" theory that I was talking about. The profession of the criminal is irrelevant to me. I don't care if you are a unemployed drunk or a highly respected prosecutor or a chief of a police department. If you choose to do the crime, you are a crook. That's all there is to it.

REPLY

TideFan Yankee 1 month ago

I agree, but what about the cases of mistaken identity where someone gets convicted? Or the cases where a crime is made up and the "victim" points a finger at you???? What if, (and this has happened) you live alone and there is no one that can say where you were at the time of the crime and you "look" like the person who did it? These things DO happen and have happened. There are guys who have done years or even decades in prison for rapes they didn't commit. So it's not always so simple as saying "don't do the crime and you'll be OK". Many people haven't done the crime but have done time anyway.

Show less

3

REPLY

Antonio Torino 1 month ago (edited)

Cases of mistaken identity? This is exactly one of the reasons why the suspects get interrogated. You might not know this, but criminals are "picking up charges" for all kind of reasons. Sometimes they want to change the state they are doing time in, sometimes they want to cut deals about existing charges on their pending cases, etc. The fact that a suspect confesses to a crime is not always the final phase of the interview and the case gets solved. You can confess all day to a murder, by example, Read more

REPLY

TideFan Yankee 1 month ago

OK, that is one instance, ONE...but what about "he said, she said" circumstances??? I know about corroborating evidence etc....and there are people who like to confess to crimes. I get that.... But pulling out the "true facts" isn't the only reason police do interrogations. They might have something or think they have something but they also ask leading questions to get the person being interrogated to fit their narrative, the one they want. I totally agree that most cops are honest and only want to see Read more

jan mcinnis

Antonio Torino · 1 month ago

TideFan Yankee I wish I could explain them. I can't. Don't forget that it is not the cop that convicts a suspect. Most of the time is a jury of our peers. They make a lot of studies today about how people can be influenced to believe things that normally they wouldn't believe. A jury can be influenced in a wrong decision sometimes.

REPLY

TideFan Yankee · 1 month ago

And who is that jury influenced by to convict???? The cops and the prosecutor. If what you said was correct, then the cops and the DA would realize that they didn't have solid, concrete evidence so they wouldn't have arrested anyone and they certainly wouldn't have filed charges...yet, they do. But the reality is, those groups that have the power to arrest and charge did so anyway. The great thing about DNA is, it's not for you or against you, it simply is.... Those "juries of our peers" are why many innocent

Read more

REPLY

Jerry VanNuys · 1 month ago

In fact, anything you say to an officer cannot be used to help you, even if it is exculpatory. Everything you say CAN and WILL be used against you as they are elements that may help prove the crime. Nothing you say can be used to help you as it is considered hearsay and is inadmissible. It is a disgusting double standard that is completely legal, which is why you have the 5th Amendment protections of not saying a

Read more

2

REPLY

TideFan Yankee · 1 month ago

Here's one that that was reported today.

<https://www.yahoo.com/sports/wrongly-imprisoned-golf-artist-released-media-publicity-143049018.html>

REPLY

studio7 · 3 weeks ago

They have to talk to you by law..uts part of tge process.

REPLY

anonymous another · 3 weeks ago

jan mcinnis

would not even brleive me if I told them!

REPLY

Van's Best Friend 2 weeks ago

Only a complete naive imbecile (or a scummy cop) would say something like that... SHUT UP!

REPLY

Van's Best Friend 2 weeks ago

Sometimes that's the only way to get through life.... imbecile!

REPLY

John Zildgulf 2 weeks ago

Exactly!

REPLY

Dodgy Skull Guy 1 week ago

It might help society though. Do the right thing, and confess ;)

^ that one actually works btw

REPLY

Greg Mardis 1 day ago

@ChiliContestWinner hearsay doesn't mean what you think it means.

REPLY

Prowler Cam 9 months ago

Never, never, NEVER talk to the police. Especially if you're innocent! You have absolutely nothing to gain and everything to lose. They will twist your words, they will lie to your face, they will lie to your friends and family, they will lie under oath because, even if they get caught they know they will not be punished.

217

REPLY

Hide replies ^

jan mcinnis

 8 REPLYJerry Langlois 3 months ago

Never talk, innocent or guilty.

 9 REPLYScott Bromberg 2 months ago

police are covered by the corrupt public sector unions like the teachers keep your guard up with both scum ! during a teacher's strike , the police will let the striking trash do what they want including attacking people like you who disagree with them ! the cowardly cops will just stand back and let it happen unless you defend your self . guess who will be arrested ?.... not the parasitic striking teachers !

 4 REPLYJJ DyNoMite 2 months ago (edited)

Most are like raccoons. They'll likely avoid confrontation if they know they risk getting their cover blown, but will fight dirty if they feel cornered. if they know you can catch them in dirty business, they'll likely leave you alone. If they find out after they've screwed the pooch, then you might have to start worrying. This especially applies to drug dealing and bribe taking cops...

 4 REPLYlazurm 3 weeks ago (edited)

Scott Bromberg I don't know about your neck of the woods but, in mine, teachers who go on strike aren't parasitic and are, instead, paid far too low for the potential benefit they give to those willing to learn.

 2 REPLYVan's Best Friend 2 weeks ago

AMEN Prowler!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

REPLYmike leschber 2 months ago

Why do we tolerate this behavior? Isn't it time we revolt and take back justice?

 8 REPLY

jan mcinnis

 270 REPLY

Hide replies ^

Beavis 9 months ago

Never waive your rights.

15

REPLYBob Saget 9 months ago

First id ask for the food and then id ask for a lawyer

23

REPLYbloodlinehunter 9 months ago

Free food fam!

13

REPLYMother Shipton 8 months ago

24gonefanit Unless you a a guilty piece of shit who harmed someone... then you should be a man and confess.

1

REPLYbloodlinehunter 8 months ago

No you should not. If you can harm a person you can also lie about it. Or better yet just shut the fuck up and lawyer up!

4

REPLYkelly shea 8 months ago

"I claim my 5th amendment right to remain silent"

4

REPLYRobert Pargeon 8 months ago

you have the right to remain silent

so ya lawyer

up then keep yer mouth shut

jan mcinnis

 4 REPLYallen mccall 8 months ago

Mother Shipton well cuz we all know the criminals that write the laws are going to pop up and confess to their crimes lol na stay silent

 3 REPLYludlow 889 8 months ago

kelly shea Even that can be used against you nowadays. So if the cops want to interrogate you, say only four words: "I want a lawyer!". Nothing else. And keep repeating those four words until the cops stop asking you questions and get you your lawyer.

 4 REPLYShow more repliesAndrew Kandratic 7 months ago

Just don't talk to the police PERIOD! Refuse all questions. There is no gain for YOU talking to the police. They are professionals LIARS!

 93 REPLYView 3 replies 1978 32 8 months ago (edited)

Saying I want a Lawyer doesnt mean you have anything to hind. Means you know your rights. Use them. Don't listen to the police. They are not your friend.

 111 REPLYView reply NATAS 8 months ago

This video should be four words long. "I want a lawyer."

 186 REPLY

jan mcinnis

Paul 7 months ago

Just remember one thing: A Cop is never your friend. Even if you are a victim they will be looking at you as a criminal and trying to pin something on you.

👍 28 🗨 REPLY

View 3 replies ▾

John Sumner 8 months ago

Never, NEVER waiver your rights. And always, ALWAYS ask for your lawyer. Don't talk to the police even if your innocent. They aren't your friend and they can't get a judge to do anything. Don't talk about anything not your likes or dislike, friends, sports, or hobby's. Don't let them get to you remain calm and keep saying "I want a lawyer."

👍 304 🗨 REPLY

Hide replies ^

Gregory Everson 8 months ago

reminds me of my probation officer, i got caught selling weed, i had to fill out forms of who my friends were, i told her i dont have friends i have clients, she wanted those names, i wouldnt give them to her

👍 11 🗨 REPLY

John Sumner 8 months ago

You have clients, that's funny bro. I would have loved to see her face when you said that. LOL

👍 15 🗨 REPLY

Burb 8 months ago

LOL! Priceless.

👍 3 🗨 REPLY

Ryan Harkin 7 months ago

You don't need a lawyer, just no comment them cunts, for 24hours if you have to. Trust me it'll be them having a nervous breakdown.

👍 10 🗨 REPLY

Filthv Frank 7 months ago (edited)

jan mcinnis

Like you are some insect, or something. And in a closed room, it's pretty effected....BUT, no matter what....don't say anything without a lawyer. (And they also know time is on their side...they will let you sit there for a long time, with panicked thoughts, and

Read more

6 REPLY

Mr. Lowery 7 months ago

Don't talk to the police if you're guilty either!

12 REPLY

Robert Gräfe 7 months ago

Where i come from (East-Germany) there are three simple rules for "conversations" with the security apperatus:

- 1) The other one is NOT Human and should allways treated as a evil robot.
- 2) Whatever IT says or does is just another programm of said evil robot and is therefore to be regarded as a lie.
- 3) Never forget that you're gonna die anyway.

17 REPLY

Peter King 6 months ago (edited)

Why do you think Military are trained with anti-integration techniques, "Name, Rank, No, Date Of Birth"

And in the UK, the very confusing "Right to silence". I guess you could always reply "I do not understand my rights as you've read them"..

4 REPLY

Tyrhol Biosphere 6 months ago

To be honest , and more likely than not , innocent people just don't think that way because they aren't really worried about it. Think about this , how many times have you been interrogated and you were 100 percent innocent, probably zero. Similarly I don't care if my car is searched during a traffic stop. Why should I care or be in defense mode if I know I'm clean. So you see it's a guilty mindset and there is a innocent mindset. And it's a huge difference between the two.

2 REPLY

Tyrhol Biosphere 6 months ago (edited)

Also , yes it's possible for innocent people to go to prison for doing absolutely nothing. (For the sake of argument ,murder) But it's also possible to win the lottery or become a billionaire. It's much more likely to get away with something than vice versa . So

jan mcinnis

Travis Rabble 6 months ago

The UK is even worse, the police can get around your right to not speak by inventing a reason to hold you under the terrorism act and then you don't get any rights to stay silent or to a lawyer.

 1 REPLYzugmeister314 3 months ago

+Tyrhol Biosphere "I don't care if my car is searched during a traffic stop." Start caring. Regardless of why they stopped you in the first place, if they're searching your car they're fishing for something to use against you. The absolute best result of that search is exactly the same as if they were not allowed to go through your personal stuff in the first place.

"Why should I care or be in defense mode if I know I'm clean." You should be defensive because that cop is not pulling you over
Read more

 13 REPLYgrowlinghands 3 months ago

Some day this will just be your profession and you won't have to deal with the law and we will all scoff that it was illegal at all.

REPLYBroke Dick 3 months ago

Tyrhol would you let the cops search your vehicle if you had a bag of dildos in your trunk?

 5 REPLYWtf 3 months ago

Tyrhol Biosphere why should my car be searched and my space violated if I'm innocent. Fuck that. Police rnt ur friends. Don't talk to them. Always say nothing except lawyer

 3 REPLYJerry Langlois 3 months ago

Don't talk to the police even if you're innocent -- OR GUILTY.

 3 REPLYEndorphin Rider 2 months ago

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=js4X-JdciHU>

jan mcinnis

james pansini 2 months ago

John Sumnerthere is only one problem with that technique.....you are definitely going to jail and run through the booking process, more commonly referred to as the "loop"...!! It's a pain in the ass and could take as long as 36 hrs if you happen to live in OC Calif. and it's a Friday when they tend to make the most arrest, overloading the sherriffs resources for booking everyone properly....you move from a cell with about 6 to 8 people at a time, from one cell to another, as part of the booking

Read more 4 REPLY*james pansini 2 months ago

Tyrhol Biosphereexcept for one thing....the courts aren t about the "☺️TRUTH", IT'S ALL ABOUT THE MONEY...They could care less if your innocent or guilty as long as someone takes "liability" for the charges....!!

 2 REPLY*james pansini 2 months ago

Jerry Langloisespecially if you are guilty and there is an actual damaged party, other than the State...the State can never be an injured party because it's a fiction...!!

 1 REPLY*Jerry Langlois 2 months ago

So, you get arrested and booked for exercising your right to remain silent ? What do you get booked for and jailed for ? I don't understand, did I miss something ?

REPLYJerry Langlois 2 months ago

I think your reply about NOT remaining silent is the most ridiculous, crazy reply I've ever read. By remaining silent you put two things in your favor : 1, you eliminate self -- incrimination. 2, you put the complete burden of proof on the law officer for whatever reason he has charged and arrested you. The long dissertation you used to defend yor position makes no sense to me, but you can " correct " me if you want to.

 1 REPLY*james pansini 2 months ago

Peter Kingi did that once, so he couldn't go any further...Then he tried to take it sentence by sentence..I said ok...The he says you have the right to remain silent. Now that's not hard to understand is it. I kind of said, well I guess. The he read the next part

jan mcinnis

REPLY

james pansini 2 months ago

Jerry Langloisyou did miss something, which I talked about on the site responding to someone else's replay...see it to understand why I said what I did...

Yes, if your going to be arrested by cops, you most certainly want to remain silent...but there was 7 people at the house that night and they all talked.. and some of the things they said , when I finally got the police report, was so ridiculous you would think

Read more

REPLY

KiwiCatherineJemma 2 months ago

Yes Travis, I have heard UK has some bad laws nowadays, under the excuse of terrorism. But even if, charged with "terrorism" you don't have a "right to remain silent" if you simply DO remain silent, they cannot twist your words etc. If you refuse to talk without first consulting a lawyer in private and then the lawyer being present, then that's simply the fact of the matter, that the cops have to deal with. If you refuse to speak to the police AT ALL instead waiting until you get inside the courtroom, then again,

Read more

1

REPLY

james pansini 2 months ago

John Sumnernever ever talk to a cop.....yea, just wait for you traitorist attorney to talk to you and plead "not guilty" for you in court so he gives the court "jurisdiction to hear the case, because what he just did is start a controversy by pleading "not guilty" instead of moving the court to dismiss the case or at least "Demurrer" (PC 1001), which is a pre- pleading defense that does not give the court jurisdiction until the demurred is answered truthfully by the judge....Instead, go into any courtroom in

Read more

1

REPLY

JJ DyNoMite 2 months ago

<https://www.innocenceproject.org/>

REPLY

epickett63 2 months ago

@Tyrhol Biosphere - and are you 100% certain that the friend or co-worker you gave a ride home to the week before didn't drop a joint, shell casing, etc. in your car without your knowledge? Are you 100% certain that the cop that searches your car won't plant

jan mcinnis

Md Nealy 2 months ago

Travis, how can you lose your right to stay silent? That is a right you have to give away since it cannot be taken.

REPLY

davida1b2c3d4c5 2 months ago (edited)

+Md Nealy

"Travis, how can you lose your right to stay silent?"

Because under UK law you can be prosecuted for remaining silent under anti-terrorism laws.

Even under normal UK law, you are warned that if you do not answer a question when asked it may harm your defence, i.e. it may

Read more

REPLY

Garth Algar 2 months ago

That being said.....being cordial has saved my * more than once

REPLY

Woodrow 2 months ago

Carry around Civil Rights cards, without saying a word invokes 4th, 5th, & 6th Amendment rights. With so many laws "on the books" in USA the average person commits 6 felonies a day, EVERYONE. Police are enforcers of the ruling political class, trained to make arrests and keep the jail doors spinning.

REPLY

james pansini 2 months ago

@Robert Gräfei don't even let them get through the "Miranda warning" to even ask me questions....people say "yes" to fast to things they really don't understand.....!! Why say you understand the Miranda warning to an officer when you dont....!! If you say NO you don't understand it, they honestly they are not supposed to question you any further, with or without counsel....!! After I told them 3 times I don't understand that warning, the questioning ended right away...without an attorney...!! Because even they know

Read more

REPLY

james pansini 2 months ago

@zugmeister314 the best thing to do is start "open carry" a gun since the 9th Circuit Law Court for both Hawaii and Calif ruled

jan mcinnis

CREATED UNITED STATES, and all of its agencies that are subsidiaries of the main Corp.....the U.S...!!

REPLY

Meanoldwoman2013 2 months ago

I told them I hung out at Walmart. That was my hobby.

REPLY

Nate 2 months ago

What if you don't know any lawyers

REPLY

Steve Turowski 2 months ago

james pansini I just learned a lot Thank you for a free lesson. I hope I don't have to go to court ever again

REPLY

TheLawEnforcementProject 1 month ago

remaining silent, while having proper knowledge of how police encounters work, is sufficient. no lawyer is necessary, if one continues remaining silent.

REPLY

TheLawEnforcementProject 1 month ago

well, sometimes, Many times, its the case that someone is in that "closed room" by thier own consent, and can merely assert thier "right" to be on thier way home. I am NOT saying that those people that are in that room are fully aware that they are thier by thier own consent, I AM saying that, whether they know it or not, they are there by thier own consent, because they agreed to go there, and stay there (all the while Believing that they cannot leave) thats the trick !

REPLY

TheLawEnforcementProject 1 month ago

to be clear, even IF someone IS guilty of something, there is no legal, practical, or moral compulsion, or even imperative, to "cooperate" with someone/some organization that is attempting to harm you (like incarcerating you)

REPLY

jan mcinnis

prosecution, or judge, or simply wish to get rid of you as a client. There are huge incidents of corruption and bad lawyers in many countries.

REPLY

Harvey Schwartz 1 month ago (edited)

@ Tyrhol: You have never actually dealt with police...

REPLY

TheLawEnforcementProject 1 month ago

@james pansini IF someone is willing to confess to some crime they did not commit (it happens), merely to get out of jail, especially just the booking process, and just because it is uncomfortable, or frightening (emotion-based), we'll then, that's their choice. BUT, it is a short-sighted and detrimental way to solve the problem. That is exactly what "they" (The "criminal justice system") want.

REPLY

TheLawEnforcementProject 1 month ago

@james pansini well... There is a significant difference between something being an actual fiction, as opposed to being a "legal fiction" in the "criminal justice system". According to "legal doctrine", a legal fiction can be treated "as if" it were real. I'm not suggesting that's a good thing, but just saying what is. It's critical information to understanding How, and Why, the system "appears to" violate natural law.

REPLY

james pansini 1 month ago

@TheLawEnforcementProjectnow you know why I can't stand the "legal system". It may be legal but it isn't lawful (constitutional)....!!

In their legal system world, they can redefine words anyway they want....We are used to definitions being defined by Webster's.....They define all their words using "Blacks Law Dictionary".....!! I donate to Trump every month, and I get emails all
Read more

REPLY

james pansini 1 month ago

@TheLawEnforcementProjectit happens all the time, because everyone just wants out of jail at any cost...the trouble is they still don't understand contracts...on the outside, people can break contracts with other people all the time almost without

jan mcinnis

REPLY

TheLawEnforcementProject 1 month ago

@james pansini you maybe have been too much into the "redemption/ commercial law" rigamarole ? What about the "secret" treasury direct accounts lol ?

REPLY

james pansini 1 month ago

@TheLawEnforcementProjectif you know that much, why is it so hard to believe.....!! I'm too into it because if Trump is replaced , this nation is finished.....This is our last chance to correct 200 years of slavery to the banks , courts, and ignorant law enforcement....we would have already been finished if Hillary had gothen elected....Ive never really been into politics before, ever.....But this isn't even about politics anymore...Its about all the FRAUD on both sides that they have kept from the people
Read more

REPLY

TheLawEnforcementProject 1 month ago

@james pansini most of that stuff is fantasy, exclusionary. Here's something, find someone who has actually (and verifiably !), ever redeemed, and collected on (again, verifiably) a commercial lien against any public official or institution. btw; the standard reply is that it hasn't happened because of "the system" and it's corruption and collusion. that answer is a non-answer

REPLY

TheLawEnforcementProject 1 month ago

In my previous comment that should be "delusionary", Not exclusionary.

REPLY

james pansini 1 month ago

@TheLawEnforcementProjectFirst of all, the " commercial lein" process is old history....But even if they didn't collect from the lein, they destroyed the person's credit forever.....one judge, said he couldn't even qualify for a loan to buy a candy bar.....!! It's called "De Taunt".....!! I font have it, but you don't either.....!!

The IRS has Tons of liens on the record on people, but they can't collect either...I know because I have dozens of them.

.none have been collected on....!!

jan mcinnis

REPLY

Chuck Finley 8 months ago (edited)

I have nothing to say without my attorney. May I go now? 🙌

107

REPLY

Hide replies ^

Chuck Finley 8 months ago

Someone Outthere .. I've listened to my attorneys. Speaking of attorneys never, ever lie to your attorney. Nothing worse than your attorney getting a curveball and then he's pissed at you.

13

REPLY

T L 2 months ago

Chuck Finley 👍

1

REPLY

Graffiti Masters 2 months ago

how about. I do not wish to contract with you, I do not volunteer, and I do not consent to anything. (the attorney thing) I do not like. the attorney has a duty, obligation and responsibility to the b.a.r. first, then to the court, they have no/zero obligation to you, everything the attorney says is hear say, and inadmissible evidence. the attorney was not a first hand witness and has zero knowledge as to what did or did not happen. and the attorney has zero congressional authority to even step foot in a court room. Show less

REPLY

Perhaps Cow 2 months ago

Wouldn't that make you look guilty?

REPLY

TideFan Yankee 1 month ago

The easier way is to simply ask, "Am I free to go?" Some cops will say things like, "we just want to talk to you" or "we want you to clear some things up for us" or "if you haven't done anything wrong, you shouldn't have anything to worry about". Don't fall for

jan mcinnis

Oh, and don't gloat, never do that. Many times people who have been told they are free to go will say something that will give the cops probable cause to look closer.

Show less

1 REPLY

Hmoob Mikah 1 month ago

Yeah man. You're free to go..Go to jail that is. Gotta wait until your bond is placed before you're ready for release.

1 REPLY

kite man 4 weeks ago

Perhaps Cow

From what I understand they aren't allowed to use you using your right to remain silent as evidence of you committing a crime. When talking to the police at best nothing happens and at worst they manipulate you into a confession.

1 REPLY

Richard Salazar 1 week ago

@Chuck Finley you are absolutely right, your lawyer or your doctor. These two guys are there to save your life, if need be.

1 REPLY

Richard Salazar 1 week ago

@Perhaps Cow , your innocent till proven guilty, and knowing your rights and not answering their questions without a lawyer, puts the burden of proof on them (the police). You hold on to those rights, I'm a veteran and I helped fight for you to have these rights. Use them with honor and respect, and help others hold on to thiers. Thanks for letting me share.

1 REPLY

Perhaps Cow 1 week ago

Oh I get now, Thanks for the heads up

1 REPLY

Show more replies

jan mcinnis

you want something to drink?

Me: "yeah I'll take a cup of 5th amendment rights"

👍 85 🗨️ REPLY

Hide replies ^

TheLance3185 2 months ago

kelly shea. "... with a lawyer sandwich on wheat."

👍 3 🗨️ REPLY

TheLawEnforcementProject 1 month ago

The right to remain silent, in a police field interview or a station interrogation, does Not derive from the 5th amendment. The 5thAm only applies to "testimony" in a legal forum setting (eg; courtroom, deposition, etc)

👍 1 🗨️ REPLY

DaDavidVids 1 month ago

I was reading through comments and laughed so hard at yours

👍 1 🗨️ REPLY

GNSGNY 1 month ago

TheLawEnforcementProject

R/Whoosh

👍 🗨️ REPLY

Desert Cannabis Grow 9 months ago

say one word only. repeatedly. Lawyer.

👍 170 🗨️ REPLY

Hide replies ^

freevideos051 8 months ago

He works for them not you even if you pay

jan mcinnis

That is so stupidly ignorant. Are you a lawyer? Have you ever worked with a defense lawyer? How far up your ass did you have to reach to pull this nugget out? Of course the defense lawyer is working for you. Do you really think that defense lawyers, people who are hired base off of their success in defending clients, secretly are trying to get their clients convicted?

15 REPLY

Carlos Matos 7 months ago

If by "he" you mean a public defender. A public defender might as well be the DA's assistant. They just want to get you to agree to a plea bargain, and move on to the next one.

8 REPLY

TheArmchairrock 7 months ago

I personally prefer the 2 word "Fuck off."

5 REPLY

Desert Cannabis Grow 7 months ago

My point was only to shut them up at the moment. legally they can't keep harassing you. But they will.

3 REPLY

Desert Cannabis Grow 7 months ago

Culitech I've been there. Lawyers are scum bags. I know that. This is the best way to shut them up.

2 REPLY

Celtic Jay 7 months ago

Conklin

REPLY

Travis Rabble 6 months ago

You're all forgetting that under the terrorism laws you will have no right to a lawyer or to remain silent and police are inventing more and more spurious reasons to enforce the terrorism act where all your rights go out the window.

3 REPLY

NeverTalkToCops1 2 months ago

jan mcinnis

rechitsapivo 2 months ago

Yep, that's literally the first thing the cops tell you when you get arrested. "you have the right to remain silent". From the Miranda case, and if they don't read you your rights, any "confessions" obtained, written or verbal are inadmissible in court afaik. I always firmly believed that if cops pressure you to confess, they don't have enough evidence to convict. They are not your loving mother and reducing your sentence is not a priority for them. After hundreds of documentaries watched on criminal cases, it seems that

Read more

2

REPLY

TideFan Yankee 1 month ago

Rechitsapivo. No, sorry, but if they read you your rights and then you confess to something, they CAN use that. It's called a "spontaneous utterance" and it IS in fact admissible in court. Just because they've read you your rights doesn't mean you have invoked them. You have to SAY you will remain silent, you have to SAY you want an attorney. The cop is just telling you what your rights are. If they (the cops) don't ask, but you tell them something, they CAN and WILL act on it.

Read more

REPLY

Michael K 1 month ago

@freevideos051 yes I spent money on a lawyer had a plea.. He misspoken said not guilty but it was all a fucking kangaroo court

REPLY

Barking Ant 11 months ago

We've reiterated over and over with our daughter, never answer any questions the police ask you. Just keep repeating I want a lawyer, I want my parents present.

134

REPLY

Hide replies ^Lucisus Palmer 9 months ago

Barking Ant lmao

1

REPLY

Anton Roman 8 months ago

jan mcinnis

Beavis Butthead 8 months ago (edited)

Is your daughter a criminal?

5

REPLY

Mike 8 months ago (edited)

If you've got the level of intelligence to think that only criminals should exercise their rights in a police encounter, I'm sure natural selection is coming along for you shortly. Watch law professor James Duane's video on youtube, "Don't Talk to the Police". If after seeing that you still feel like it is somehow, at any time, ever a good idea to answer a police officer's questions, there is absolutely no hope for you in this life. Literally everything, as a completely innocent person, is stacked against you, and has ruined many innocent lives who ignored their lawyers who say this ONE THING over and over and over again. "Don't talk to the police. It cannot help you. It can only hurt you."

Answer nothing. Politely respond "I'm sorry officer, I don't answer questions, I would like my legal counsel." Stay calm, talk only to your lawyer when they arrive, and they will help you with the rest.

Show less

16

REPLY

Barking Ant 8 months ago

Beavis Butthead No she is not and that is exactly why we've drilled that mantra into her head.

14

REPLY

Out of date 8 months ago

Ex police Blogger Inspector Gadget recommended this advise (in the UK) as well.

5

REPLY

maxmagnus777 8 months ago (edited)

@Maiden Lancashire Inspector Gadget has deleted his blog. Is there a way to find it? Found him, he is on twitter now. Good read tnx m8.

2

REPLY

Beavis Butthead 8 months ago

Barking Ant The truth will set you free, unless of course you're a criminal and then the truth will lock you up.

jan mcinnis

Beavis, Hahahaah LMAO...Too funny!!

1

REPLY

Tyrhol Biosphere 6 months ago

Void Nil

I think you are exaggerating just a little bit. All you really need is common sense. For the most part, this only relates to criminals. They are not exactly arresting school girls so let's be honest.

1

REPLY

Show more replies

Michael Lawson 6 months ago

Become well versed in the statement "I wish to remain silent, and I want to talk to a lawyer." Remember, the police are not your friends. They want to bust you. Never engage in conversation, no matter how trivial, with the police.

51

REPLY

View 2 replies ▾

bryan Jaeck 6 months ago

In recent conversation with officers after I called them when I was assaulted, I had an experience that made me distrust the local police. I was the victim but was pushed, talked down to, insulted by the officers. The police made fear for my well being, even more that the man who assaulted me. Later I realized the police did not want to do the work and just bullied everyone.

38

REPLY

Cherrie Dee 8 months ago

Never talk to the police, if they say you can't have a lawyer, then sit quietly. Let them talk if they want, but don't reply in way shape or form!

40

REPLY

David T 8 months ago (edited)

Just cuz u lawyer up. It doesn't mean guilt. Just means you're smart.

jan mcinnis

amber lopez 8 months ago

you're*

REPLY

David T 8 months ago

amber lopez thanks lol

1

REPLY

NeverTalkToCops1 2 months ago

+David T Quite right! Exercising a right can not be converted into a crime.

2

REPLY

Womb Raider 9 months ago

DON'T TALK TO THE POLICE! Period. Exercise your right to remain silent! They are not on your side and not trying to help you.

41

REPLY

E. G. Wolf 2 months ago (edited)

The logical thing to remember is: If the police had enough incriminating evidence, they wouldn't need to interrogate you.

Everything they actually need to talk about with you can be done through your lawyer, including every deal they offer you. There is never a reason why they need to talk with you alone, except to pressure you into making a (false) confession.

The police is NOT your friend, and they NEVER want to be your friend. To them you're just some random criminal scumbag, even if you're innocent.

People who truly want to help you do only one thing, they GET YOU A LAWYER.

Remembering that should always be the baseline of your thinking.

Show less

35

REPLY

MrAnymean necessary 9 months ago

jan mcinnis

52 REPLY

View 4 replies ▾

Jarlaxle Daerthe 7 months ago

All cops are liars NEVER trust a cop, and never cooperate with them under any circumstances... make no mistake, they are the enemy of freedom, justice, and equality!

13 REPLY

Toophless1 8 months ago (edited)

I once went through the "interrogation" phase while in the military. I spent the entire one hour not even willing to comment on the weather. They got zip from me. At one point they said they were going to search my barracks room. I told them they didn't have my permission. They said they didn't need it. I followed with, you do not have my permission. They once again told me they didn't need it. This made me suspicious that there was something wrong if they kept telling me they didn't need my permission yet they weren't searching my room. They got so frustrated that at one point I asked to see the search warrant. When they weren't looking I folded it up and put in my pocket. Later on they actually did search my room. I asked to see the warrant and they came to a halt when they couldn't produce it. It was I that controlled the situation, not them.

I think, and I have no basis for this, but I think during an investigation they are taught a very tight direction to travel. The same with a traffic cop. If you move them out of what they are taught and what they expect, they start making mistakes. Once this happens the situation is your's, not their's...

Show less

51 REPLY

Hide replies ^

T L 2 months ago

Toophless1 Cool story !

7 REPLY

TheGXDivider 2 months ago

Cool story bro

Except nowadays warrants are directly sent by email to the cop

2 REPLY

Invincibility is in oneself, vulnerability is in the opponent.

Therefore skillful warriors are able to be invincible, but they cannot cause opponents to be vulnerable.

That is why it is said that victory can be discerned but not manufactured.

Thought this sun tzu quote applied quite well so I pasted it. Though you writing this is you exposing your self.

Show less

3

REPLY

Dan Morgan 8 months ago

It is vitally important for people to understand the actual role of the police in society. Their job isn't to protect the public or even investigate crimes. They are always working to maintain the current power structure. It doesn't matter who is in charge the police will never rebel or even resist unless their own power and privileges are at stake.

The police are not the enemy they are an enemy. You don't want to cross the criminal element in your community and you don't want to cross the police. Don't trust either. The best you can hope for is the police are more interested in ruining someone else's life than yours.

Never trust the police and always remember whenever you are talking to the police they are trying to ruin your life. The only exception would be if you are an obviously blameless victim of a crime. That is a lot rarer than you think. If you got your ass kicked by a mugger they may treat you quit well. If you got in a fight with our neighbor they are looking for the one they can most easily convict. If your asshole neighbor can lie better than you then you are the easier collar. It doesn't matter who is right it's all about what is the easiest path for the police.

Show less

57

REPLY

Hide replies ^

Cliff Walker 8 months ago

Wise words my man!

6

REPLY

ludlow 889 8 months ago

jan mcinnis

Alan Macphail 7 months ago

The " New Praetorian Guard " .

2

REPLY

Tyrhol Biosphere 6 months ago

If you are truly innocent , and not involved with either side of the criminal element, I doubt that you have much to worry about .

REPLY

Dan Morgan 6 months ago

"Truly innocent"? Man, won't it be funny if you are found with half a joint. Also you'll sing a different toon if you're politically active and get arrested at a protest.

3

REPLY

E

Eugene D'Andrea 2 months ago

You go to far and it is not necessary. All you really have to do is follow the advice given in this video. Saying all police are evil is no different than saying all jew's are shysters. It is prejudism plain and simple. A police officer may save the life of some one you love some day. I did when I was a cop. But I was at times overzealous and then kind. Pleasant and then nasty. What I'm trying to say I was human and 95% of us were good people. Unfortunately it is the 5% who people remember. They are the punks who go out flaunting their power. Or it is the criminals and bullies who bad mouth the good cops for putting them in their place. At any rate I tell my own son's to never talk to the police without a lawyer. That is great advice.

Show less

5

REPLY

Skizane 2 months ago

"It is prejudism plain and simple." Hey everybody, we have a new word for intolerance and racial bias! Please tell me this was on purpose, because it's perfect. If it's specifically about Jews would a variant of it be 'prejudaism'?

REPLY

S

SCCreations 2 months ago

This is the 3rd reply i've seen from you.(tb). You would appear to be completely clueless as to the ways of the world. No offense meant. But your naivety is astounding. (And very dangerous to anyone who cherishes freedom). You actually sound like "the good cop".

jan mcinnis

OXIASCE7 2 months ago (edited)

@Eugene D'Andrea ALL Jews are inherently shysters because they promote lies as truth.
Likewise, ALL police are evil because they uphold evil laws.
Laws are evil because they are not justified by any rational standard of morality.
These are facts, not my personal opinion, and it's not prejudice to point out facts.

1

REPLY

Andrew_koala 1 month ago

Dan Morgan

There is an error in what you state.

The error is in the grsmmatical terminology which is critical in LAW and the difference in what is a common English definition and a legal definition.

Thus the definitions of PUBLIC and PEOPLE is not the same.

PUBLIC and PUBLIC POLICY is the policy of the Government which is policed and is administered by the corporate courts.

The citizens and residents of a state are PEOPLE. neither are they PERSONS.

PERSONS are ficticious corporate entities using your given name.

.. So Police protect and enforce PUBLIC POLICY.. which is the policy of the Corporate Government.

Consult a Law dictionary for the correct defiitions.

There are 3 types of English.

1. Slang
2. Common English
3. Legal English

Most people are never taught the difference.

Schools and Universities are institutions of INDOCTRINATION not EDUCATION.

All designed to keep the truth hidden from the people so the people will accept AUTHORITY AS TRUTH instead of TRUTH AS AUTHORITY.

Show less

REPLY

Van's Best Friend 2 weeks ago

EXTREMELY well said Dan Morgan!!!!

REPLY

jan mcinnis

 23 REPLYNatasha Paige Cortez 10 months ago

Note to self... Never apologize for anything.

 27 REPLYOldskipper 1 8 months ago

"I don't answer questions, get me a lawyer".

 47 REPLYBob 357 1 month ago

About 30 years ago I was investigated for an assault. (drunk Marines fighting) NIS investigator sat me down, Mirandized me and said "we know you were involved. tell us your side". I immediately invoked 5th, never said another word. Was out of there in 3-5 minutes. Got lawyer, he had it thrown out in short order. NEVER TALK TO POLICE! Lawyers' biggest challenges are because defendants try to talk themselves out of it.

 8 REPLYMichael Y 11 months ago

That is why you always stay silent. Never ever talk to a officer. They have a good way of twisting words and editing video.

 85 REPLYJohn Travers 9 months ago

Guilty til proven innocent in America

 33 REPLYView reply jimmy alderson 8 months ago

What's the point of a system where innocents can be driven to believing they're guilty?

It's obviously important to catch the right suspect so if you have them you can't let them go, but what happens when you have a crime